PB010369			3rd August. 6 A.M. Slept at intervals during the night, Bowels relaxed three times since last evening, discharges nearly similar to last report, little or no pain, no return of vomiting. Cont^r Medicamenta ut antea. 6 P.M. Three alvine evacuations during the day, accompanied with slight pain, in other respects nearly similar to last report. Rep^t Mist et adde P. Opii gts xxv h.s. 4th August 6 A.M. Has been purged twice in the night, without pain, in other respects no comp^t. Cont^r Medicamenta etc. 6 P.M. Rep^t Haust Anodyn h.s. 5th August. 6 AM. Bowels open twice in the night, free from pain, no other comp^t. Cont^r Mist ut antea 6 P.M. No so well tonight, has been purged 7 or 8 times during the day, accompanied with pain in the abdomen probably caused by eating some improper food, she was therefore taken into Hospital, to be more under observation. Capiat Ol Ricini Zi s. 6th August 6 A.M. The Bowels have been freely acted on by the Castor Oil. Pain in the abdomen considerably diminished. Discharges very fluid, bilious & slightly feculent. Habeat Pil Opii g^r ifs statim 6 P.M. Purging checked by the Pil this morning. Rep^t Pil h.s. 7th August 6 A.M. Still complains of purging. Bowels open three times in the night. Discharges scanty, fluid & feculent, no comp^t of pain – Pergat – 6 P.M. One alvine discharge during the day and slight return of irritability of stomach, in other respects no material changes. Rep^t. Pil Opii h.s. 8th August 6 A.M. Purging checked by the Pill last night – The bowels have not been open since last report, but has been sick & vomited twice, accompanied with pain in the lower part of the Abdomen. Habeat Haust Effervesc. pro re nata. 6 P.M. Stomach continues irritable & has been purged several times since morn^g. Complains of pain in the lower part of the Abdomen. Rep^t Pil Opii h.s. 9th August. 6 A.M. No permanent improvement in the condition of the Bowels, and latterly the discharges have assumed a dysenteric character. There is frequent inclination to stool accompanied with tenesmus, the discharges now consist of feculent matter mixed with mucus and occasionally streaked with blood, increased frequency of Pulse & heat of skin, loss of appetite, nausea & occasional vomiting, Tongue tolerably clear – This Patient it appears, from her own statement, has been subject to attacks of Dysentery for a long time, particularly whilst in Grange Gorman Gaol, and is only just recovered from a severe attack – Omit^r Mist Cretae Co: Rx Hyd. Chlorid ð i Opii Purif g^r iv Ipecac Pulv g^r xv Conf Aromat q.s. Misce & divid in Pil vj capiat i 3tia quaque hora 10th August. 6 A.M. Vomited several times last evening, and purged twice accompanied with tenesmus – the evacuations are nearly similar to yesterdays report. Cont^r Pil ut heri

			6 P.M. Comp^s of great debility, has been purged repeatedly during the day, the evacuations are chiefly mucus mixed with blood, irritability of stomach continues and unable to take nourishment except some of the Preserved Soup – Considerable thirst, Pulse quick & weak, slight heat of skin – Omit^r Pulv Ipecac: Cont^r Pil Hyd Chlorid ċ Opii. Habeat Haust Effervesc pro re nata 11th August. 6 A.M. Purged twice in the night, the evacuations are free from blood today and consist of mucus with a little feculent matter, Tenesmus diminished. Comp^s of great debility, heat of skin, Pulse quicker than nat^l & weak, thirst. The stomach is less irritable since the Ipecac as omitted in the Pills. – Cont^r ut antea. The Abdomen to be well rubbed with a liniment three times a day, composed of Mercurial Ointment & P. Opii, and afterwards a broad flannel roller to be firmly applied. – 6 P.M. Compl^s of mouth being sore. Has been purged several times during the day. – the discharges are very offensive and dark coloured. – Omit^r Pil et Situs Mercurialis - Capiat Ol Ricini Zi cras mane. Habeat Pil Anodyn h.s. 12th August. 6 A.M. Was purged three times in the night and vomited this morning shortly after tasting the Castor Oil, which was repeated & retained since which the Bowels have been freely moved. The discharges were more copious and feculent accompanied with a quantity of thick mucus of the consistence of Jelly – slight ptyalism, Pulse & skin similar to last report. Comp^s of thirst. Rept^r Ol Ricini Zi R Opii g^{ss} xv Habeat Garg Astring. Diet to consist of Preserved Meats Rice etc – Decoct Hordie pro potu. 13th & 14th Complains of great debility and appears much exhausted, the Bowels have been open three times in the night accompanied with slight tenesmus – The discharges are more feculent and natural of a dark greenish colour without any blood. – considerable ptyalism, less heat of skin, Pulse continues quick and weak, still comp^s of thirst. Rx Accasia Pulv Zfs. Decoct Hordie Oifs, pro potu Utat (utor?) Garg Astringent ut antea 6 P.M. Report nearly similar to morning. Habeat Haust Anodyn h.s. 15th August. 6 A.M. Passed rather a restless night & comp^s much of debility. The bowels have been moved several times since last report, the discharges are more natural & free from blood. Ptyalism continues – Pulse diminished in frequency but still very weak, skin moist & cool, less thirst, altogether appears much better.- Cont^r Nutrientia et Garg Astring ut antea. 6 P.M. Rept^r Pil Anodyn h.s. 16th August. 6 AM. Slept well during the night and feels much better this morning, the bowels have been moved once only since yesterday afternoon, free from pain, Ptyalism continues to improve – Rept^r Pil Anodyn h.s. 17th 6 A.M. The Bowels have again been relaxed two or three times in the night, the discharges are thin & watery and seem to depend on a weakened state of the bowels,

Ulcer of the left Breast accompanied by Dysentery	7	Cath^c Comerford age 29, Convict at Sea 8th September 1847 <hr/> Disch^d dead 6th October 1847 <hr/>	Presented herself about a week ago, complaining of pain & swelling of the left breast. On examination it proved to be a hard tumour about the size of a large Egg & painful to the touch, especially in one part which looked red and threatened suppuration. Stated that she felt a hardness in the breast several months since and that the swelling had gradually increased to its present size. This Patient is of a delicate habit of body and impaired health. Fomentations were employed and afterwards Poultrices were applied for a day or two with considerable relief of the pain. The part threatening suppuration gave way yesterday and now presents a dirty looking superficial ulcer about 1½ Inches long and 1 in breadth of an irregular shape with ragged edges. The general hardness of the tumour has considerably diminished and at present is chiefly confined to the immediate neighbourhood of the ulcer. Bowels regular. Appetite very indifferent. Cont^r Cataplasm Habeat Mist Tonic ter in die 9th Sept^r The ulcer looks sloughy and disposed to spread. GENERAL REMARKS

134 Irish female Convicts and 33 of their children were embarked on board the "Waverley" in Kingstown Harbour on the 14th July 1847, and on the following day 40 Free Settlers were sent on board (by the authority of Dublin Castle) for a passage to Van Diemen's Land. – The Ship proceeded to Sea on the 18th of the same month, and had a favourable passage of 98 days, reaching her destination (Hobart Town) on the 25th November following.

The Prisoners generally, and all other persons, on embarkation, appeared in tolerable health, with the exception of several of the Convicts being infirm and feeble from age, and some of the young children delicate and emaciated, apparently from want of proper nourishment.

A few days after leaving Ireland – Bowel Comp^{ts} of an ordinary character, occurred, yielding readily to treatment, with the exception of a case of Dysentery which proved very obstinate and continued on the List 5 or 6 weeks. This patient had been frequently the subject of a similar complaint whilst in Gaol, her health had evidently suffered much from diseases and intemperance. - She however ultimately recovered and landed in safety.

After being at Sea nearly two months the weather became less favourable and during the latter part of the voyage, the people suffered a great deal from the effects of repeated Gales of Wind.

The Bowel Comp^{ts} now became more frequent, and assumed then character of Dysentery, attended with symptoms of malignancy that in many instances proved fatal.

The total number of cases put on the Sick List was 44, the greater part of which were cases of Dysentery & Diarrhoea. There were however a great many other Bowel Comp^{ts} of a slight character, that soon got well by means employed, and therefore did not require to be placed on the List.

The whole of the cases that proved fatal are fully detailed in this journal, as well as those sent to Hospital on arrival in the Colony, the latter cases, with the exception of two, being convalescent.

In addition to the diseases above eluded to, three or four cases of Scorbutus occurred towards the end of the voyage, they were however very slight, the symptoms indicating more the approach of that disease than the disease itself,. They were all landed with the other Prisoners and speedily got well after being a short time on shore.

The case of Hydrocephalus occurred to a child about 6 months old. The symptoms at first were very obscure and scarcely attracted that attention of the child's Mother. The disease was accompanied towards the end with convulsions in one of which the child died.
